

Tool of Trade for working vehicles

Vehicles used both on the road and as specialised work tools come with a specific set of risks that standard motor insurance may not fully address.

Working vehicles - often referred to as Tool of Trade vehicles - are essential assets for businesses across various industries

These vehicles, such as cherry pickers, cement mixers, cranes, and tipper trucks, don't just transport people or goods; they play a hands-on role in the work itself. Whether lifting, mixing, tipping, or shredding, these vehicles perform tasks critical to a job site, creating unique insurance requirements.
